PRACTITIONER RESIDENCIES

Bellagio practitioners residencies are for policy makers, non-profit leaders, social entrepreneurs, activists, individuals from the corporate sector engaged in social investment projects and journalists. Professionals from any country are welcome to apply. The Center typically offers four week residencies; in unusual circumstances, practitioners may request a shorter residency period. The professional work of an applicant must align with the Foundation's mission to expand opportunities for poor or vulnerable people and to help ensure that globalization's benefits are more widely shared. Details on the Foundation's mission and philosophy can be found on its website in the "About Us" section: www.rockfound.org. If you have not already done so, please review the selection process and criteria and answers to frequently asked questions (FAQs).

Please send additional questions / comments to: bellagio_ny@rockfound.org

You may also call us with your questions: 212-852-8431

During the online application process, the following items will be required, and must be attached as Word or PDF documents:

- A project summary of no more than 250 words, written for a general audience, indicating the purposes and goals of your time at Bellagio. The summary should also indicate the specific output of your residency, the planned outcome of your project, the target audience and the planned means of dissemination.
- A description of the work planned while in residency at Bellagio and a brief statement at what stage the work will be upon arrival (maximum 1,250 words)
- Former Bellagio residents must submit a 250 word summary of what was accomplished during the previous residency, indicating the specific outputs and/or outcomes, the critical response and what has been accomplished since then.
- A sample output of your work that will support your experience and the future project; such as a book chapter, report, manuscript, or website from your organization.
- An abbreviated CV of career highlights. (maximum four pages)
- Three references with knowledge of your project. They must be able to respond via email. For more information click here.

Evaluator Information

Fields marked with an asterisk * are required.

The Foundation will email your evaluators, who should know of your work. You should not list more than one person from the same university or institution, nor should you list editors or others with a financial interest in your success.

Please contact your references in advance to ask if they are willing and available to write on your behalf, and to confirm email addresses.

The online application form will automatically send an email to your references once you submit your application (you will receive a generic copy of the email). Your references will be asked to provide a professional reference and an evaluation of the merit and substance of your work, as well as a few words on your likely contribution to the intellectual and social community of scholars and artists at Bellagio.

The letters are due within two weeks after you submit your application. Our office will only contact your references once. You will be responsible for follow-up to ensure that we receive the letters on time.
